EAPI 2026 | 13 - 14 MAY 2026

Bigger and more dynamic than ever, the 13th annual EAPI Summit, East Africa's premier real estate gathering, will take place at the Radisson Blu, Nairobi, 13 - 14 May 2026.

In 2026, the EAPI Summit is the only international real estate gathering to connect investors, developers, global hotel brands and professionals to opportunities across the value chain. Join over 400+ global investors, developers, and professionals from the real estate and hospitality sectors for two days of capital raising, deal-making, networking, and insights from industry leaders and trendsetters.

If you're invested in East Africa, the 13th annual EAPI Summit will feature new and exciting experiences, provide a unique platform to access funding and finance, and meet project professionals and industry players developing East Africa's real estate sector. In 2026, the EAPI Summit will again host dedicated discussions focused on investment, capital markets, occupier trends, retail, logistics, hospitality, and affordable housing, making 2026 our most influential, valuable, and dynamic experience yet. To sponsor or speak at #EAPI2026 and put your brand front and center of East Africa and some of the continent's leaders.

Email murray@apievents.com for more information & sponsorship options.
TICKET PRICE: $745

13TH ANNUAL

INVESTMENT SUMMIT

RE-NEWED MOMENTUM

East Africa's real estate sector is broadening and has entered into its Institutional ERA. Years of sustained growth; relative transparency, evolving capital market growth and the expansion various asset classes have compounded and propelled the region to this point. From residential to mixed use, hospitality, commercial, industrial, and alternatives; East Africa's prime cities are evolving to cater to residents and businesses seeking to establish and grow outward from East Africa. At this year's EAPI Summit, we explore how resilience and performance by proven operators are creating a new era of investment and scale – whereby international and domestic institutional capital is backing proven, hardened and resilient players. Join us at the only international real estate and hospitality gathering that connects real capital to decision makers.

KEY FOCUS AREAS

- The Institutional Era : Mastering the Capital Stack & Asset Allocation. A high-level opening on investor mandates. How the shift toward healthcare, logistics, and alternative residential (the "Beds, Meds, Sheds" thesis) is dictating deal structures for institutions and family offices alike.
- The Debt Advantage: Navigating the New Interest Rate Cycle: Analyzing how stabilizing USD rates and lower domestic interest rates are making debt an attractive alternative to equity and self-funding for the first time in years.
- Bridging the Gap: Formalizing East Africa's Real Estate Market and Expanding into the formal sector?
- High-End Luxury & Residential: Exploring Super Towers, Branded Residences, Buyer Amenities (mixed use and precincts), and Market Depth
- How to scale a residential platform in East Africa insights from the majors.
- Office Dynamics: Supply Shortages, Rising Rentals, and the Growing Role of Serviced Offices
- Shark Tank: Pitch Your Solution to Africa's Most Influential DFI (Application details and T&Cs to be provided separately)
- Hospitality Investment in East Africa: Trends in New Supply, Bush vs. Beach Strategies, Long-Stay Models, and the Viability of Branded
- Residences: The Rise of Branded Supply and so much more.

KEY FOCUS AREAS

- Retail in East Africa: Convenience options and how are brands operating in the current market.
- FinTech and Real Estate Payments: Assessing the Viability of Financial Technology Solutions for Project Management and Transactions
- Safety and building integrity in East Africa: How can the sector ensure buildings are safe long term.
- What steps do governments need to take in order to continually support investment into the real estate market: permitting, infrastructure, financing, title, regulations and code etc.
- Resilience as an Investment Criterion: Leveraging the Building Resilience Index (BRI): As climate and geoseismic risks intensify across Africa, BRI provides investors with a standardized and location-specific resilience assessment — mapping hazards, validating building specifications, and identifying capex pathways to improve structural resilience. BRI will increasingly be used by real estate funds, insurers, and lenders to de-risk assets, shape ESG frameworks, and ensure long-term asset durability in markets facing natural disaster volatility.
- Mainstreaming Green & Resilient Portfolios Across the Capital Stack: IFC's integrated green and resilient buildings strategy — combining EDGE, BRI, and APEX — enables institutional investors, REITs, and developers to align with global climate commitments while enhancing operational performance. Platforms that integrate EDGE and BRI early in acquisition, development, and asset management cycles gain pricing power, improved absorption rates, and stronger lender confidence.

2025 SUMMARY

The 12th Annual EAPI Summit, East Africa's leading real estate event, returned to Nairobi on May 7-8, 2025, at Pullman, Upper Hill, bringing together industry leaders and innovators for another impactful gathering.

This year, 363 people gathered from over 223 Companies in more than 16 Countries to listen to 100 industry experts who shared insights on how East Africa can harness emerging trends, navigate challenges, and position itself as a hub of investment and growth in the real estate and infrastructure sectors.

With the help of our 40 Sponsors and Partners, we were able to put together an event of real value, insights and opportunities for our attendees and sponsors.

2025 PUBLIC REACTIONS, MARKETING & SOCIAL MEDIA

In the lead-up to the event, API Events implemented a comprehensive digital marketing and communications strategy to drive awareness, engagement and attendance.

A key enhancement to our outreach efforts was the investment in a WhatsApp messaging service through Cue Desk. This tool was used to share event updates, reminders, and curated content in a direct and accessible format. This technology system enables API Events to ensure 100% of messages reach their recipient, in comparison to email and traditional social channels.

In addition, API Events maintained a strong presence across LinkedIn, Facebook, and Instagram, where a series of posts were published to build anticipation and showcase key elements of the event. These included speaker announcements, sponsor highlights, agenda previews and registration prompts. Sponsors, speakers and partners received promotional content and contributed their own content, enhancing the events publicity and allowing speakers and sponsors to reach their networks.

Email Marketing played a vital role in the communications mix, targeting two distinct databases. The first list comprised past attendees, while the second included individuals already registered for the upcoming event. The emails contained content ranging from early-bird announcements and event teasers to logistical information and final reminders – right up until the day before the event. Together, these multi-channel efforts ensured widespread visibility, maximized engagement, and contributed significantly to the event's success.

2025 PUBLIC REALTIONS

API Events invested significantly in public relations with a tiered strategy which included Pan African and regional PR via API Group, property specific titles including (Property Wheel) and local media PR, which included a press conference, two pre-event radio shows on Capital FM, and more. The three press releases via APO generated an AVE value of USD $11 910 600.

Join our Country Director, Kenya, Robert Gichohi and Director Asef Ahmed at the East Africa Property Investment Summit from 7-8 May in Nairobi.

Hosted by API Events, this year's theme is 'Positioning for Opportunity' and panel discussions will delve into the transformation of Africa's real estate industry.

On day one, Asef will join a panel to discuss "Unpacking Tanzania, Rwanda, Uganda and Kenya, and how leaders are cultivating growth across key sectors in Real Estate. Which market is set to attract the most FDI?"

On day two, Robert joins a panel to discuss "Masterplanned developments: Build to Suit vs. speculative development for alternatives."

These conversations explore strategies, investment trends and delivery models that are shaping the future of real estate across the region.

On Wednesday the 7th May I had the pleasure of attending the API Events EAPI Summit 2025 — a brilliant gathering of East Africa's most forward-thinking minds in real estate, finance, construction, and infrastructure.

There was great insights shared on Nairobi's residential trends, commercial absorption rates, capital markets, and the infrastructure challenges we're all navigating across the region.

A few standout themes from the day:
 -Renewed investor interest in Nairobi's mixed-use and student accommodation segments
 -Real traction in climate-conscious design and ESG-driven development
 -The importance of localised data to unlock financing and streamline delivery

Kudos to the organisers and speakers.

Looking forward to the conversations and connections ahead.

Wrapped up an incredible time at the two day East Africa Property Investment (EAPI) Summit 2025! From the role of AI in shaping real estate, to rent-to-own and build-to-rent models, to emerging REITs. This year's conversations were bold, necessary, and inspiring. So grateful for the connections I made 🥰. I'm excited to translate these insights into my affordable housing and real estate video series. The future is smart, inclusive, and African!
